Louis P. Hurter Taken Ill Sunday Afternoon

INQUEST HELD TODAY

Deceased Did Not Regain Consciousness After Attack

Louis P. Hurter, aged 50, of Chicago, a traveling representative of the Chicago-Lally Light Co., died at the Dixon hospital this morning after a short illness, with which he was attacked at the Nachusa Tavern Sunday evening, and from which he did not regain consciousness from the time he was discovered on the floor of his room.

Mr. Hurter arrived in Dixon Saturday afternoon and registered at the Tavern. He appeared to be in good health Sunday and partook of an exceptionally heavy dinner, although he had, according to statements he made to traveling men at the table, been dieting for some time. He spent the afternoon in the hotel office, chatting with other transients, and went to his room shortly before the supper hour.

At 7 o'clock, when he did not appear for supper, a call boy was sent to his room and the lad found Mr. Hurter on the floor unconscious. Assistance was immediately summoned and later in the evening the attending physician ordered him taken to the hospital, where everything possible was done for him, but to no avail. It is believed that death was the result of uremic poisoning.

Mr. Hurter's wife and two sons, both young men, were summoned by telephone last night and they arrived here this morning to take the remains back to Chicago. The Hurter home in Chicago is at 6316 Magnolia avenue.

To Hold Inquest
Coroner Whetston will arrive in Dixon this afternoon to hold the inquest at Staples' undertaking rooms, where the remains were taken, the jury which Deputy Sheriff Shoenholz has impaneled being: Clark Rickard, William Krohn, Charles Bishop, Lee Dysart, Charles E. Miller and John Ortleson.

YOUNG MAN BADLY HURT ON RAILROAD

WAS FOUND ON TRACKS AT GALT LATE IN THE EVENING
FRIDAY.

George Andilow of Cerro Gordo, Ill., was very seriously injured Friday night about 9 o'clock about half a mile from Galt. The injuries are believed to have been brought about by a railroad accident, as he was picked up near the track.

About 9:25 last night loud cries for help were heard by a family occupying one of the farm houses near Galt. Upon investigation a man was found lying in a bad condition near the track. The Northwestern station at Sterling was immediately notified. The station agent then informed No. 25 to stop and pick-up the injured man, which they did at 9:25.

How Andilow became the victim of such a mishap is a mystery at the present time. The young man refuses to talk about the cause of the accident but it is believed by the people who found him that he fell from the train. He was immediately taken to the Merchants' hospital at Clinton. On examination it was found that a leg was broken in three places, three ribs were fractured, the other limb was found to be cut off below the knee and he suffered several bad cuts about the face.

Andilow is 21 years of age and is the son of A. N. Andilow of Cerro Gordo.

MRS. FRANCES BEAUCHAMP

Mrs. Beauchamp, the Kentucky woman who figures as Prohibition party aid and is a prominent worker in various national movements to make the United States safer, spoke here yesterday.

Until Mr. Beauchamp's death a few years ago their home stood as a model in dispensing hospitality for Mrs. Beauchamp was a model housekeeper and expert in fine needlework or the making of a garment and able to tempt an epicure's appetite in preparation of dainty dishes.

Her love of the beautiful was manifested by the several children adopted and educated and the masses of beautiful flowers growing about her home.

From childhood Mrs. Beauchamp has been a power in religious and reform work. Her graduation at Shelbyville took place in 1874 and a few years later she was married to Mr. Beauchamp.

For years she has been state president of the W. C. T. U., a worker for the state college at Lexington, often securing appropriations of sums ranging from $30,000 to $60,000, also securing $30,000 appropriation for a Girls' Home in connection with the college.

In 1912 she became national secretary of the prohibition party and was re-elected in 1916. Recently Mrs. Beauchamp was unanimously elected as a member of the executive committee of the coming Great Party which expects to face the coming state and congressional campaigns in a determined battle for state and national prohibition.

Through all her work she has remained the sunny, sweet, optimistic woman responding to every duty of the home as well as those in connection with the various reforms she has been aiding, duties which would have crushed most women and today he is admired and respected by hundreds of thousands of her fellow citizens of this nation.

APRIL 6 A FLAG DAY TO MARK YEAR'S WAR

All Citizens Asked to Display "Old Glory" at That Time

STATE COUNCIL CALL

Every member of every community of every county in Illinois, organized under the banner of the State Council of Defense, is now called upon to see to it that there is a thorough observance of special "Flag Day" which will mark the first anniversary of the United States declaration of war against Germany, April 6 will be that day.

Here is the call as sent out over the signature of the chairman of each committee of the State Council of Defense:

Saturday, April 6, next, will be the anniversary date of America's declaration of war against Germany.

Every person who has a flag should fly it on that day. Every person who hasn't a flag and can get one should get one and fly it.

We ought to be glad for this day, because on the 6th of April, 1917, it was our privilege to join the ranks of those nations that had already been pouring out their treasure and blood in defense of Christian civilization.

Those of us who cannot be on the firing line can at least show our support of those who are in France or in training to be sent there by showing them that we stand back of them and of the government in this war.

Let every flag be flown on April 6th.

Get in touch at once with the members of your organization and let the word go out everywhere that April 6 is to be a day of patriotic celebration. Carry the message through your newspapers, not once but repeatedly until every one knows what is expected of him. Have your ministers give out the word from their pulpits and have the school children carry it home to their parents.

Make April 6 Illinois Flag Day.

If possible, arrange for patriotic demonstrations in as many of your centers as you can on April 6th. Let the people gather together to reconsecrate themselves to the vigorous and unrelenting prosecution of this war.

MUNITIONS BLAST IN FRANCE KILLS MANY; CAUSE IS UNKNOWN

Two Very Violent Explosions Do Great Damage in Plant North of Paris

CHILDREN ARE HURT

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Paris, Friday, March 15.—Two very violent explosions today in a factory at La Courneuve, north of Paris, caused the deaths of 30 persons and the injury of a large number, mostly slightly. The causes of the explosion have not yet been definitely determined. La Courneuve is seven kilometers from the cathedral of Notre Dame, in the direction of St. Dennis.

American Red Cross and army ambulances were among the first at the scene of the explosion.

A number of wounded were carried in motor trucks. An American army officer dressed the wounds of a child cut by flying glass nearly a mile from the scene of the disaster.

The child was one of several scores in a school in which every window was shattered.

Firemen were unable to approach the burning factory nearer than 800 yards.

Survivors declare that the accident was due to a man dropping a box of percussion fuses, which set off a box of grenades.

Nearly 1,000 persons were shelterless as the result of damage to their homes.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
The Hague, Saturday, March 16.—It is impossible for Holland to give an affirmative answer to the entente's proposals concerning Dutch ships, says the Nieuwe Courant.

"It is an act of violence," it adds, "to which we are subjected by the rulers of the ocean and nothing makes us so bitter as the attempt being made to base it on the so-called rule of international law, which is in no wise applicable here."

HOLD OUT NO HOPE

Darrow, the noted Chicago attorney. The address will be free and every citizen is urged to attend by the Neighborhood Committee of the State Council of Defense, under whose auspices Mr. Darrow will come to Dixon.

Clarence S. Darrow is one of the most prominent men in the country. He has been before the public as an attorney and lecturer many years and has "made the first page" time after time because of his prominence in labor movements and patriotic revivals. He will speak on "The Kaiser." Friday night, and will surely have some mighty interesting things to say concerning the German atrocity.

FINE SERVICE AT M. E. CHURCH

The St. Patrick's service at the M. E. church last evening was very largely attended and was an inspiring and interesting meeting in every way. The Junior choir under the leadership of Mrs. Edwards sang two very fine selections, Misses Fern Currier and Florence Carpenter delighted the congregation with their duet and the Ives trio rendered "Melodia in D" by Gabriel Faure in such a pleasing way as to win much commendation. Rev. Lumsden brought many helpful lessons from the life of St. Patrick. The Junior and Senior choirs of the church are doing exceptionally fine work, and on Palm Sunday the Senior organization will have the morning music while the Juniors will sing in the evening.

PERU WOMAN MURDERED?

Pern, Ill., March 18.—Mrs. John Kastner, age 36, was found dead in her home on Fourth street in this city late yesterday. She had been choked to death and there was evidence of blows on her head. Three suspects are being held, although no very incriminating evidence has been discovered.

MOOSE BAZAAR HAD FINE START

The Moose bazar at their club house on First street had a most auspicious opening Saturday evening, the large dance floor being crowded throughout the entire evening. The booths did a good business and every one had a fine time. The bazar will not run tonight, in order that there be no conflict with the St. Patrick's day dance to be given at Rosbrook's Hall by the Knights of Columbus, but it will resume tomorrow night and continue the rest of the week. The Marquette orchestra will furnish the music for the dancers again tomorrow evening.

DRAFT MEN CAN GET VALUABLE TRAINING IN TRAINING CORPS

Enlistments in Volunteer Training Corps Are Badly Needed Now

25 WANTED AT ONCE

The state authorities have allowed a few more days to the officials of the local military training unit to fill up its quota, but unless the ranks are filled at the expiration of the time extension Dixon's charter will be taken away and the local equipment will be given to Sterling, where a splendid unit has been organized. At least 25 men are needed to fill the ranks of the training corps here. The unit will drill on Thursday evening in the armory in Dixon as usual this week, and anyone wishing to join should report to Captain Sam Cushing at that time, or at any time before.

Want Draft Men.

The officers of the local unit want young men from this community who are in class one to join the unit now. These men, who are liable to be called into service at any time within a year, can get some very valuable military training under Capt. Cushing, and such advance training will stand them in good stead when they enter the army. A man with previous military training has a big advantage over his comrades who go to the cantonments and stands a fine chance for speedy promotion.

Men who expect to go to the army should seize this opportunity at once.

CARRIERS MADE FINE RECORD DURING WEEK

SOLD NEARLY $6,000 WORTH OF
THE WAR SAVINGS
CERTIFICATES

During their week's campaign in Dixon the mail carriers of the city old stamps and certificates to the amount of almost $6,000, it was announced today at the postoffice. The work disposed of 1168 war savings certificates and 292 thrift stamps, a remarkable record, showing nearly our times as many $5 certificates as thrift stamps sold. However the full results of the carriers' faithful work does not show in the totals for the week, as the foundations for many made big sales, which will continue throughout the year, were laid. The carriers will continue to handle the stamps and certificates at all times, and when orders are given them for larger amounts of certificates than they ordinarily carry the orders will be filled and deliveries will be made the next day.

NEW ENGLANDERS WIN PRAISE FOR ACTION ON LINE

American Troops Repulse Strong German Raid in the Toul Sector

OFFENSIVE IS UNLIKELY

Officials Think Talk of German Offensive Will Not Materialize

By Associated Press Leased Wire
With the American Army in France, Sunday, March 17.—The American troops who have been in action along the Chemin des Dames are a division composed exclusively of New England units. The division contains units from all the New England States and those from Massachusetts have been especially active.

American intelligence officers report evidence leading to the conclusion that possibly a spy may be at work within the American lines northwest of Toul. Early this morning an American sentry saw flashes of a signal light from a window facing in the direction of the enemy lines. He fired through a window and dashed into the house, but failed to find anyone.

To Win in West?

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Amsterdam, Sunday, March 17.—"I have a strong hope that Field Marshal von Hindenburg will soon win for us complete victory on the western front," reads a message sent by Emperor William to the Pomeranian provincial council, as quoted in the Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin.

Just German Bluff

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, March 18.—Germany's threat of a great offensive on the western front no longer impresses American officials.

The weekly review expresses the opinion that the offensive will not be launched until or unless it is found necessary.

"While hostile preparations for an offensive in the west are not slackening," the review says, "it is becoming more evident that the enemy will launch the offensive only if compelled to do so by the exigencies of the general strategic situation."

The statement notes indications of Austro-German concentration in the Italian theater which may forecast assaults on Verona or Brescia, as their objectives.

With the American Army in France, March 18.—One of the American patrols encountered an enemy patrol in No Man's Land in the Toul sector. The Germans fled, carrying with them several bodies of men killed or wounded. They were so busy getting away that there was only a feeble return to the American fire, and none of the American patrol was injured.

Raid on U. S. Trenches.

With the American Army in France, March 18.—After a terrific artillery preparation large numbers of the enemy crossed No Man's Land on the extreme right of the American sector northwest of Toul.

Apparently the purpose of the raid was quickly accomplished and only a comparatively small number entered our lines. Permission has not been given to mention the number of casualties.

This raid, like most of the others carried out all the way from the sea to Switzerland, was designed to gather information by means of taking prisoners.

Explore Abandoned Trench.

East of Luneville our patrols have explored part of the German trench, which our artillery forced the enemy to abandon. Patrols proceeded laterally until they established contact with the Germans.

Our reconnaissance and wire patrols found snipers' posts, listening posts and nests from which machine guns had been firing on our lines. The artillery attended to all these posts.

The German positions have been so uncomfortable at several places that they now are trying to gain a foothold by connecting shell holes.

Huge Shells Rain on Line.

Our troops have been subject to an extraordinary heavy artillery fire for the last twenty-four hours. More than 240 shells, which made craters 20 feet deep and 30 feet in diameter, fell in one section of the line. In another section batteries have been shelled heavily.

More gas shells have fallen in both the Toul and Luneville sectors, but the larger number in the former.

Found Guilty of Theft.

Brighton, Colo., March 18.—Philip Cohen, produce merchant of Sterling, Colo., was found guilty of robbery by a jury in the Adams county district court. Cohen was accused of robbing Mrs. Irene Nolan, wife of a prominent Denver business man, of jewelry valued at $3,400 at the Model roadhouse while she was in the company of Rev. Garret J. Burke.

The following petition was read to the board by the clerk, and upon motion of Supervisor Mannion, said petition was referred to the Road and Bridge Committee.
To the County Board of the county of Lee and State of Illinois.
The undersigned commissioners of Highways of the town of Harmon in said County would respectfully represent that a bridge needs to be built over the drainage ditch No. 1 of the town of Harmon where the same is crossed by highway on the line between Lee and Whiteside County in which said town of Harmon is wholly responsible that the total cost of building said bridge will be $2000.00 dollars which sum will be more than twelve cents on the one hundred dollars on the last assessment roll of said town and that the levy of the road and bridge tax for the two preceding years in said town was in each year for the full amount of sixty-one cents on each one hundred dollars allowed by law the major part of which is needed for ordinary repair of roads and bridges.
Wherefore the said Commissioners of Highways hereby petition you for aid to meet one-half the expense of said bridge.
Dated at Harmon, Illinois this 4th day of March, 1918.
John Wolfe F. E. Smallwood, Commissioners of Highways (State of Illinois) Lee County (ss. Town of Harmon) Board of Commissioners of Highways.
We the undersigned commissioners of highways of the town of Harmon hereby state that we have made careful estimate of the probable cost of the erection of a bridge across drainage district No. 1 of Harmon, Illinois and we do estimate at the probable cost of same will be $2000.00 dollars.
Witness our hands this 4th day of March, 1918.

Trustworthy Recipes

Thousands of conservation recipes are now in circulation, many of them excellent, but others untested. In some instances even domestic science experts, cooking conservation dishes in quantities for classes and institute lunch rooms, have converted their ingredients into home recipes by simply reducing all ingredients in proportion—a method of adaptation that does not always give good results in the home. With a view of furnishing local food administrators and the public with trustworthy recipes, the Home Economics section of the Food Administration has tested the following recipes for Victory Bread, which may be circulated as being entirely trustworthy:

VICTORY BREAD

Save the Wheat!

Which day is baking day at your house? Try one of these breads next time. Each recipe will make three good sized loaves.

Handle and mould these bread doughs with greater care than white bread. If the doughs stick to the hands when kneading add more flour at this time.

Always keep the dough at an even warm temperature (about 75 degrees).

If you have a good rule for bread, use it, but in place of part of the white flour use one of these other grains—either all or a part of the time.

If dry yeast is used a sponge should be made at night with the liquid, yeast, and a part of the white flour.

Potatoes Are Plentiful;

Use Them In Bread

This bread is especially valuable because of the body regulating substances which it contains.

Potato Yeast Bread—

- 1 or 2 cakes compressed yeast
- 1 cup lukewarm water
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 3 tablespoons corn sirup
- 3 1-2 cups mashed potatoes
- 7 cups flour (more or less may be needed)

Mix as follows:

Soften the yeast in the liquid and then add (1) salt, (2) sirup, (3) potato, and enough of the flour to make a stiff dough. Mix and knead thoroughly. Let rise 3 1-2 hours, or until double in bulk. Knead or cut down the dough, add the remaining flour, and let rise again until double in bulk (about 1 1-2 hours). Shape into loaves. Let rise in pans until double in bulk. Bake 50 minutes to one hour.

Horn of Plenty Brims With Corn

Every time you make three loaves of this bread instead of white bread you save more than a pound of wheat flour.

Cornmeal Yeast Bread—

- 1 quart water
- 1 or 2 cakes compressed yeast
- 3 1-2 teaspoons salt
- 3 tablespoons corn sirup
- 1 1-2 cups corn meal
- 8 cups flour.

Mix as follows:

Soften the yeast in 1-2 cup of lukewarm water. Heat the rest to boiling, then stir in the corn meal. Let it boil up once. Cool, add the salt and sirup and when lukewarm, add the softened yeast. Then add the flour to make a stiff dough. Follow the directions for kneading, raising and baking given for potato bread.

Oats Make Brawn for the Scotchman

Why Not for You?

You'll find only one thing the matter with this bread—the family will want to eat too much of it.

Oatmeal Yeast Bread—

- 1 quart water
- 1 or 2 cakes compressed yeast
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 3 tablespoons molasses
- 3 cups rolled oats
- 8 cups flour

Mix as follows:

Soften the yeast in 1-2 cup of lukewarm water. Heat the rest to boiling, then stir in the rolled oats. Let it boil up once. Cool, add the salt and sirup and, when lukewarm, add the softened yeast. Then add the flour to make a stiff dough. Follow the directions for kneading, raising and baking given for potato bread.

Rice Bread Popular—

Ask your grocer to get broken rice. It's cheaper and just as good.

Rice Bread—

- 1 quart water
- 1 cup rice
- 1 or 2 cakes compressed yeast
- 1-2 cup lukewarm water
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 3 tablespoons corn sirup
- 6 cups flour

Mix as follows:

Cook the rice until soft in the one quart of water. Cool until lukewarm, then add (1) the yeast softened in the 1-2 cup of lukewarm water, (2) the salt, (3) the sirup and (4) the flour. Follow directions for kneading and raising, and baking given for the potato bread.

Birthday Dinner.

Mrs. Horace Gilbert of Palmyra entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of her husband's 70th birthday anniversary. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Jule Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gilbert and family. An attractive decorative scheme for dining room and table was carried out in a yellow and white color scheme. Mr. Gilbert was remembered by a number of gifts which he values highly.

CUT OUT BOOZE-- SAVE FUEL--WIN THE WAR!

The U. S. Fuel Administrator of Ohio estimates the amount of coal used by the brewers of this country at 7,500,000 tons.

According to the Philadelphia North American, one of the government experts estimates that the amount of coal each saloon uses will average about 50 tons a year. At that rate, the 220,000 saloons in the United States consume 11,000,000 tons annually.

To carry raw material to the breweries, distribute the manufactured product, carry coal to breweries and places of consumption, haul fixtures, empty boxes, barrels, bottles, etc., will require (for locomotives), at least 2,500,000 tons. (60,000 locomotives are required to haul the 900,000 freight cars used in the liquor traffic.)

A member of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association recently declared before the Interstate Commerce Commission that if the Government would eliminate liquor from the coal producing districts of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, the output could be increased 25,000,000 tons.

Here we have it:

	Tons
Used by breweries .....	$ 7,500,000
Used by Saloons .....	11,000,000
Used in transportation .....	2,500,000
Possible increase in production .....	25,000,000
Total .....	46,000,000

The Government reports a shortage of 50,000,000 tons. Practically all of it is directly chargeable to the liquor traffic. IF THESE BREWERIES HAD BEEN CLOSED LAST SEPTEMBER WHEN THE DISTILLING OF WHISKEY WAS DISCONTINUED, THERE WOULD HAVE BEEN NO HUMILIATING FUEL SHORTAGE IN THIS COUNTRY.

IN CHICAGO

The shortage of coal in Illinois this winter was reported by the Fuel Administrator to be 500,000 tons.

Industrial plants, stores, shops, offices, schools, etc., were ordered closed for a period of 14 days in order to save coal.

A statistician has figured that the amount of coal used to produce and sell the beer used in Chicago is 502,000 tons—equal to the shortage in coal for the state. In other words, the liquor business in Chicago is responsible for the coal shortage in Illinois.

The estimated loss to business and labor on account of the shut-down to save fuel was $8,000,000 a day in Chicago alone, or $112,000,000 for the fourteen days. THAT MEANS THAT THE PEOPLE IN CHICAGO HAVE BEEN FORCED TO PAY $224 A TON FOR EVERY TON USED TO MAKE AND SELL BEER IN CHICAGO.

The liquor people have denied that they use that much coal. But on page 23 of the report of the "Chicago Commission on the Liquor Problem," in 1916, the liquor people say that the saloons spend $1,019,000 for fuel, and $2,530,000 for light. The Chicago Association of Commerce on page 7 of "Chicago Facts" state that the cost of "steam lump coal," laid down in Chicago is $2.00 per ton (this was before the increase in price due to the war). Assuming that a portion of the coal is anthracite, the total amount consumed by the saloons is over 400,000 tons. To this must be added another 100,000 tons admitted to be used by the breweries. The coal necessary to produce the amount of light they claim to use is 200,000 tons.

The Chicago liquor business, therefore, uses 700,000 tons instead of 500,000 tons. If they had not denied the 500,000 tons, we probably would not have investigated further and discovered that our figures were too low.

A railroad authority stated that if the breweries of Illinois had been shut down 60 days before, there would have been no fuel shortage here, and no need of shutting down business and industries.

WE ARE ASKED TO "SAVE FUEL TO HELP WIN THE WAR." TRANSLATED, THAT MEANS, SAVE FUEL IN ORDER TO SAVE THE BREWERIES AND SALOONS.

Henry Clews—Finances and War

HENRY CLEWS, in his weekly letter, says in part: That transactions in Stock Exchange securities should be confined to limited proportions does not appear remarkable if analysis is frankly attempted of the conditions under which they are being conducted. We are, for instance, at the threshold of a new war loan, larger in volume, it is understood, and more attractive in return than either of the offerings which have preceded it. At the same time we every day are approaching on the Western war front the active resumption on a major scale of hostilities which, with the arrival of spring, are so inevitable. It has heretofore been emphasized in these advices that the renewal of active fighting this year contains for us a much greater personal element. Our own men are for the first time to undertake a liberal share of the burden of the war. Every day the new arrivals of our troops in France will add to American responsibilities. It need not be said that these responsibilities will be shouldered manfully and successfully. But the inevitable toll of war must be faced frankly; from now on a much wider appreciation will at home here be entertained of the real cost of war. This is a factor in the financial situation which should be appraised at its face value—it is the inexorable price of our participation in this War of Empires.

As to the ultimate duration of the struggle, the week's developments contain little which seems to suggest that the end has approached appreciably nearer. No doubt the enemy, if it were possible for him to consolidate and perpetuate the fruits of the invasion of a demoralized Russia, would be more than willing to advance such terms for restitution of Belgian and French territory as to meet much more clearly the demands of our own country and of our associates in the war. The Germanizing of the great Russian empire, the control of its trade and of its huge resources—those which have been developed and those not—would provide an outlet for German expansion undoubtedly far beyond any hope entertained before the war began. But such a settlement of the war is not possible. At best it would mean merely a temporary truce with a determination of the military caste of Berlin, after once the Russian situation had been placed under control, to resume and continue its plan of world conquest which has been so unmistakably displayed as the underlying object of the present war. President Wilson in his message to the Russian Soviet at Moscow has, however, intimated the American position on the Russian problem, which problem must be considered but a separate division of a single great question. The only possible basis for peace which can be considered is one which will mean a permanent peace predicated upon the overthrow of autocracy and the safeguarding of democratic ideas of freedom of thought and action. Unfortunately the recent successes of the enemy in Russia are calculated to delay such a result. German leaders now are reported to be willing to consider a peace on the basis of the status quo ante in the West and the status quo in the East. This impossible solution appears all there is contained in the more recent press reports of renewed peace feelers from Berlin.

It merely is axiomatic that the longer the duration of the war the greater its cost and the greater the addition to our huge national debt which is so rapidly piling up. The money situation already has developed a degree of strain which calls for caution in Stock Exchange operations. At the moment the market is being called upon to depend almost entirely upon money accommodation afforded in the form of demand loans. Funds for fixed maturities are not available. The near approach of the time when preparations will become necessary for the new Liberty Loan, which will be issued April 6, suggests that there is slight probability of any fundamental improvement taking place in the general money situation during the progress of the loan.

Remember the Lusitania

REPRESENTATIVE LINDLEY H. HADLEY of the state of Washington has introduced in the house a resolution for the observance of May 7 of each year as an international memorial day for, "those who served and sacrificed in the war for world-wide democracy." That date is the anniversary of the sinking of the Lusitania, and it is felt by Mr. Hadley and others that it is a day that may well be set aside by all the allies to commemorate the deeds of their soldiers. Under the provisions of the resolution the secretary of state is directed to invite the allied governments to join with the people of the United States in the movement.

Independence for Old Age

INSURANCE statistics show that less than 5 per cent of men above 70 years of age are either self-supporting or independent. Miserliness is not the solution of the problem, but intelligent spending would have saved every penniless old age attained by a physically and mentally normal man since the world began.

Consider the Thrift Stamp. It is a beacon light whose little green beams point the way by which the possessor of the small and irregular income may reach the safe harbor of an independent future. It leads up to the War Savings Stamps, and best of all to the habit of saving.

WHEN Liberty Loan salesmen start out to work in Dearborn County, Ind., early next month, each one will be provided with a list of the men from that county who are serving under the colors. This is a plan which is not unlikely to be adopted elsewhere. Who could possibly refuse to invest in bonds of the third Liberty issue after scanning the list of his neighbors and friends who have gone over there ready to make the supreme sacrifice if necessary?

THE food administration has announced its intention to take such action as may be necessary to prevent speculation or profiteering on the part of seedsmen. Upon receipt of specific information of extortionate prices being charged for seeds, including seed corn, such cases will be investigated and recommendation made for such action as the conditions require.

A MUSKOGEE, OKLA., Indian remarked after kissing the bride when he was married the other day, that it was the first time he had kissed a woman. We can see a busy time for that bride.

Certain-teed

Roofing - Paints - Varnishes

Certain-teed means certainty of quality and guaranteed satisfaction—the first and last object of careful buyers. Both quality and satisfaction are guaranteed by a business which has gained world leadership because of its ability to manufacture and distribute the highest quality products at fair prices.

Certain-teed Roofing &amp; Shingles

Certain-teed is a conservation product. It is made from rags and asphalt, skillfully converted into roofing that is impervious to the elements.

Certain-teed is the most efficient type of roof for all kinds of buildings, from the modern skyscraper to the farm barn. It is light weight, weatherproof, clean, sanitary, fire-retardant. Certain-teed is not affected by fumes or gases, and cannot rust or corrode. Its first cost is moderate, laying cost low, and upkeep practically nothing. Certain-teed is guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness.

Certain-teed Paints &amp; Varnishes

Made from the best quality materials, mixed by modern machinery in scientifically correct proportions to produce the highest quality paint.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are sold at cost plus a small profit. Each color is priced according to its cost. Paint makers usually charge the same for all colors, basing their prices on the cost of making the expensive colors. The Certain-teed policy puts each color on the right basis. Therefore most Certain-teed Paints cost you less than competing paints of anything like the same high quality.

The Allied Bazar is past, but a number of interesting facts regarding it still remain unpublished. People throughout the county will be interested in the rank held by the different townships in the contributions made. East Grove certainly carried off the banner, a township with no postoffice, no railroads, yet proving its up-to-dateness by the size of its contributions and the spirit in which they were made. It holds first place among the townships in the size of its contributions; Lee Center was second, Sublette third and Ambor fourth. East Grove contributed in money $70 made up from many small contributions collected when the country roads were almost impassable. Aside from this it gave $17 made at a chicken supper given in Ohio, the nearest town, which is, however, in the adjoining county of Bureau. Live stock, fancy work, canned fruit and many other articles also found their way to the bazar from this township. Mrs. Homer Parsons was chairman of the work in East Grove and was assisted by Mrs. James McBride and Mrs. Joseph Meurer. The donations from the Armstrong and the O'Neill schools of East Grove were also large.

MAGAZINES PLEASING TO GRANT SOLDIERS

LOCAL WORKERS RECENTLY SENT 655 PERIODICALS TO W. C. T. U. THERE.

Mrs. Bessie P. Tabor has received the following acknowledgement of 655 magazines recently sent to the Rockford W. C. T. U. by local workers:

Your three boxes of magazines arrived in good shape, for which accept our thanks. They will help to equip the seven tables in our Hostess house which we hope you will visit at your earliest opportunity.

The soldiers enjoy the reading material, as well as the writing desk, easy chairs and couches for napping. But better than all they like to visit with motherly women, and often remark: "This makes me think of home and I'm coming again; I'll tell the other fellows to come." We have had conversions here of men about to go to France. They do not hesitate to tell me their needs and I have given many of the St. John's Gospels and Pocket Treasures which they pick up from our tables in preference to a great variety of reading matter. They like to play the piano and sing familiar hymns. They ask for cloths to clean their guns, and for dust cloths just as they would go to their mother. They often take up the Union Signal and remark, "My mother took that paper." One soldier said he had won two medals at our contests and wished they might have the medal contests at Camp Grant.

Remember us in your prayers. With loving gratitude to all the friends of the cause, I am loyally yours,

EVA K. FICKES,
President Rockford W. C. T. U. and Supt. of Hostess House.

REX BEACH

CHAPTER VIII—Lorelei goes shopping and meets Alice, Demore, notorious dancer, who takes her home to tea. Lorelei learns that the dancer is not what is said of her.

CHAPTER IX—Lilas Lynn confesses to Lorelei her intentions as to Hammond. Jim Knight and his mother prepare to force money from Merkle, using Lorelei's ride with him as a weapon.

CHAPTER X—Jim takes Lorelei to supper to avoid Bob Wharton, who, however, unexpectedly appears at their table. He pours out his apologies to Lorelei and tells her that her brother arranged the meeting for money. Lorelei saves the drunken Wharton from Jim and his gang.

CHAPTER XI—Merkle calls on Lorelei at the theater and tells her of her mother's attempt to exact blackmail from him. Lorelei decides to leave home. Lilas Lynn tells of her past.

CHAPTER XII.

Lorelei exploded her bomb at breakfast Sunday morning, and the effect was all she had dreaded. Fortunately Jim had gone out. The girl's humiliation at Merkle's disclosure and her merciless accusations left little to be said in self-defense. Of course, the usual tears followed, likewise repetitions of the time-worn plea that it had been done for Lorelei's own good and had been prompted by unselfish love for her.

"I'm beginning to doubt that," Lorelei said, slowly. "I think you all look upon me as a piece of property to do with as you please. Perhaps I'm disloyal and ungrateful, but I can't help it. And I can't forgive you yet. When I can I'll come home again, but it's impossible for me to live here now, feeling as I do. I want to love you—so I'm going to run away."

Tragically, through her tears, Mrs. Knight inquired: "What will become of us? We can't live—Jim never does anything for us."

In Peter's watery stare was abject fright. "Lorelei wouldn't let us suffer," he ventured, tremulously. "I'm sick. I may die any time, so the doctor says." He was indeed a changed man; that easy good-humor that had been his most likable trait had been lost in habitual peevishness.

"I'll keep the house running as before," his daughter assured him, "and I'll manage to get along on what's left. But you mustn't be quite so extravagant; that's all. I shan't be—and you wouldn't force me to do anything I'd regret, I'm sure." She choked down her pity at the sight of the invalid's puffy face and flabby form, then turned to the window. Her emotion prevented her from observing the relief that greeted her words.

The moment was painful; Lorelei's eyes were dim, and she hardly saw the dreary prospect of fire escapes, of whitewashed brick, of bare, gaping back yards overhung with clotheslines, like hives exposed in the process of dissection.

"Money, Money! You Both Worship It."

"The things will go on just the same," she repeated, then clenched her hands and burst forth miserably: "Oh, I know how badly you need money! I know what the doctor says, and I'll get it somehow. It seems to me I'll pay any price just to see dad walking around again and to know that you were both provided for. Money, money! You both worship it, and I'm getting so I can't think of anything else. Nothing else seems worth while."

Two hours later a dray called for her. She took them across town. The Elegancia apartments looked down on her with chill disapproval as she entered; the elevator man stared at her with black, hostile eyes until she had made herself known; and even the superintendent in a less pretentious structure than the Elegancia would have been the janitor—now that "No. 6" was rented, did not extend even a perfunctory welcome as he delivered the keys. On the contrary, he made known the exclusive character of the house in such a pointed manner as to offend her.

Lilas was out, she learned, which probably meant that she was still asleep. Lorelei ascended to her new home in low spirits. Now that she saw the place in strong daylight, she was vaguely disappointed. She was very lonely, very friendless, and very much discouraged. Then she noticed the telephone and sprang toward it. Adoree was at home; her voice answered cheerily, and her interruptions of amazement and delight caused Lorelei's message to spin itself out unduly. Without waiting for an invitation Adoree cried:

"Let me come and help. Please! We'll use both the poodles for mops, and I'll be there in ten minutes. . . . You're a perfect dear to say yes, for I know you want to do it all yourself."

"Come now—quickly. I'm scared—" Lorelei begged, in tearful tones. "I'll drive right up in my chariot of flame; I was going out, and it's waiting while I kalsomine my face. Are you sure everything is good and dirty? Goody! We'll do it ourselves. Good-bye!"

Side by side the girls worked; they forgot their luncheon, then sent the sad-faced footman in search of a delicatessen store, and ate ravenously with a newspaper for tablecloth. By evening the place found itself for once in its life clean and orderly, and the two occupants dressed and went out to a nearby hotel for dinner. Returning, they put the final touches to their task.

When Adoree left, late that night, she kissed her friend, saying: "Thank you for the loveliest Sunday I ever had. It was splendid, and I'll come again tomorrow."

The theatrical profession is full of women whose lives are flawless; hence it had not been difficult for Lorelei to build up a reputation that insured respect, although her connection with a Bergman show made the task more difficult than it would otherwise have been.

During the two years of her stage experience no scandal had attached to her name, and she had therefore begun to feel secure. In that period she had met many men of the usual types that are attracted by foot-light favorites, and they had pressed attentions upon her, but so long as she had been recognized as the Lady Unobtainable they had not forced their unwelcome advances. Now, however, that a scurrilous newspaper story had associated her name with that of a wealthy man, she began to note a change. Bergman's advances had been only another disquieting symptom of what she had to expect—an indication of the new color her reputation had assumed.

Nobel Bergman's commercial caution steered him wide of the moral women in his employ, but the other kind, and especially the innocent or the inexperienced, had cause to know and to fear him. In appearance he was slender and foppish; he affected a pronounced waist line in his coats, his eyes were large and dark and brilliant, his mouth was sensual. He never raised his voice, he never appeared to see plain women; such girls as accepted his attentions were sure of advancement, but paid for it in other ways.

On Monday evening Mr. Slosson, the press agent, thrust his head through the dressing-room door and announced to Lorelei:

"Bergman says Mrs. Thompson-Bellaire is giving a box party, and she told him to fetch you around for supper. She owns a piece of this show, and the theater belongs to the estate, so you'll just have to go."

"Mercy! Mrs. Thompson-Bellaire, the college boy's giddy godmother," Lilas mocked. "I suppose she's out slumming, with her kindergarten class."

Slosson frowned at this levity. "Will you go?" he inquired. "Yes or no?"

"Um-m—I'll have to say 'yes,' it seems."

"Good. I'll phone Bergman." When the press agent had gone Lilas regarded her companion with open compassion. "Geel! But you're going to have a grand time. That bunch think it's smart to be seen with show people, and of course they'll dance all night."

"And I did so want to go straight back to my new home." When she joined her employer after the show she was in no very agreeable frame of mind.

Mrs. Thompson-Bellaire was a vermilion-haired widow with a chest like a blacksmith, who had become famous for her jewels and her social eccentricities. She and her party were established at one of the uptown "Trottoires," when Nobel Bergman and Lorelei arrived. Three examples of blushing boyhood devoted themselves to a languid blonde girl of thirty-five, and the hostess herself was dancing with another tender youth, but she came forward, panting.

"So good of you to come, dear," she cried. "This is Miss Wyeth, and these are my boys, Mr.—" She spoke four meaningless names, and four meaningless smiles responded; four wet-combed heads were bowed. She turned to her blonde companion, saying "She is pretty, isn't she, Alice?"

"Very," Alice agreed, without removing her eyes from the youth at her left. Bergman invited Lorelei to finish the dance; then he inquired, "What do you think of her?"

"Her hair fascinates me; she looks as if she had just burst out of a thicket of henna leaves," Bergman laughed, silently. "But why did she invite me?" "I told her to."

"You?"

"I knew you'd refuse if I asked you."

"So? Then I'm really your guest instead of hers."

"We'll leave whenever you say." Throughout the rest of the dance Lorelei was silent, offended at Bergman's deception and uncomfortable at her own situation; but the hostess had ordered a supper of the unsatisfactory kind usual in such places; little as she liked the prospect, she could not leave at once.

The meal was interrupted regularly each time the music played, for dancing was more than a fad in this set—it was a serious business with which nothing was allowed to interfere. There was considerable drinking. Bergman, who devoted himself assiduously to his employee, showing more effect from it than the others. As the night wore on he became more and more offensive; he grew coarse in a sly, tentative manner, as if feeling his ground. He changed the manner of his dancing, also, until Lorelei could no longer tolerate him.

"Getting tired, my dear?" he queried, when she declined to join the whirling throng.

"Yes. I want to go."

"Still on Amsterdam avenue?"

"No, I'm living alone—now."

Bergman started, his eyes brightened. "Ah! Then you've come to your senses finally. Merkle fixed it—eh? I can do more for you than Merkle can."

"Merkle?" She eyed him coolly.

"Oh, play your game with strangers, but don't put me off. Weren't you caught with him at the Chateau? Well, then—"

"You needn't finish. I'm going home now."

He laid a detaining hand upon her arm. "You never learned that speech in one of my shows," he said, "and you're not going to say good night to me. Understand?" He grinned at her with disgusting confidence, and she flung off his touch. The returning dancers offered a welcome diversion.

Lorelei dreaded an open clash with the manager, knowing that the place, the hour and the conditions were ill suited to a scene. She had learned to smile and to consider swiftly, to cross the thin ice of an embarrassing situation with light steps. Quickly she turned to Mrs. Thompson-Bellaire, who was bowing effusively to a newcomer.

"My word! What is Bob Wharton doing here?" exclaimed the widow.

"Bob Wharton? Where?" Miss Wyeth's languor vanished electrically; she wrenched her attention from the wire-haired fraternity man at her side. Lorelei felt a sense of great thanksgiving.

Mrs. Thompson-Bellaire beckoned, and Wharton came forward, his eyes fixed gloomily upon Lorelei.

"You recall! So this is how you waste your evenings. I am surprised, but now that we've caught you, won't you join us?"

Wharton glanced at the four pawns and hesitated. "It's long past nine; I'm afraid the boys will be late for school."

Miss Wyeth fidgeted; the sophomore with the bristling pompadour uttered a bark of amusement. Meeting Bob's questioning glance, Lorelei seconded the invitation with a nod and a quick look of appeal, whereupon his demeanor changed and he drew a chair between her and Nobel Bergman, forcing the latter to move. His action was pointed, almost rude, but the girl felt a surge of gratitude sweep over her.

There was an interlude of idle chatter, then the orchestra burst into full clamor once more. Much to the chagrin of her escort, Lorelei rose and danced away with the newcomer.

"Why the distress signal?" queried Bob.

"Mr. Bergman has—been drinking." "Rum is poison," he told her, with mock indignation. "He must be a low person."

"He's getting unpleasant." "Shall I take him by the nose and run around the block?"

"You can do me a favor." He was serious in an instant. "You were nice to me the other night. I'm sorry to see you with this fellow."

"He forced—he deceived me into coming, and he's taking advantage of conditions to be nasty."

Bob missed a step, then apologized. His next words were facetious, but his tone was ugly: "Where do you want the remains sent?"

"Will you wait and see that mine are safely sent home?" She leaned back, and her troubled twilight eyes sought him.

"I'll wait, never fear. I've been looking everywhere for you. I wanted to find you, and I didn't want to. I've been to every cafe in town. How in the world did you fall in with the old bell-cow and her calf?"

When Lorelei had explained, he nodded his complete understanding. "She's just the sort to do a thing like that."

Wharton ignored Bergman's scowls; he proceeded to monopolize the manager's favorite with an arrogance that secretly delighted her; he displayed the assurance of one reared to selfish exactions, and his rival writhed under it. But Bergman was slow to admit defeat. Dawn was near when the crowd separated and the hostess was driven away, leaving Lorelei at the door of a taxicab in company with two or her admirers. The girl bade them each good night, but Bergman ignored her words, and, stepping boldly in after her, spoke to the driver.

Bob had lubbed with a magnificent disregard of consequences, and as a result he was unsteady on his feet. His hat was tilted back from his brow, his slender stick bent beneath the weight he put upon it.

"Naughty, naughty Nobel!" he chided. "Come out of that cab; you and I journey arm and arm into the purpling east."

"Drive on," cried Bergman, forcing Lorelei back into her seat, as she half rose.

Bob leaned through the open cab window, murmuring thickly: "Nobel, you are drunk. Shocked—nay, grieved

"Canter for the Kind Lady."

—as I am at seeing you thus, I shall take you home."

"Get out, will you?" snapped the manager, undertaking to slam the door. "I'm tired of your insolence. I'll—"

Bergman never finished his sentence, for in his rage he committed a grave blunder—he struck wildly at the flushed face so close to his, and the next instant was jerked bodily out of his seat. Lorelei uttered a cry of fright, for the whole side of the cab seemed to go with her employer.

There was a brief scuffle, a whirl of flying arms, then Bergman's voice rose in a strangely muffled howl, followed by nasal curses. With a bellow of anguish he suddenly ceased his struggles, and Lorelei said that Bob was holding him by the nose. It happened to be a large, unhandsome and fleshy member, and, securely grasping it, Bergman's conqueror held him at a painful and humiliating disadvantage.

Bob was panting, but he managed to say, "Come! We will dance for the lady."

A muffled shriek of pain was the answer, but the street was empty save for some grinning chauffeurs, who offered no assistance.

"Be a good fellow. I insist, my dear Nobel!"

"Drive on, quickly," Lorelei implored, but the chauffeur cranked his motor reluctantly. A moment passed, then another; he cranked once more. Bergman was sobbing now like a woman.

Bob paused and wheezed: "Bravo! You done noble, Nobel. We've learned some new steps, too, eh? All power of resistance had left the victim, who seemed upon the verge of collapse. 'I say we've learned some new steps; haven't we, Berg?' He tweaked the distorted member in his grasp, and Bergman's head wagged loosely.

"Oh, please—please—" Lorelei cried, tremulously. "Don't—"

"Canter for the kind lady," Wharton insisted. Bergman capered awkwardly.

"Mr. Wharton! Bob—" Lorelei's agonized entreaty brought her admirer to the cab door, but he fetched his prisoner in tow. "Let him go or—we'll be arrested."

"I'll let go if you insist. But it's a grand nose. I—love it. Never was there such a nose."

Bergman, with a desperate wrench, regained his freedom and staggered away with his face in his hands.

"It—actually stretched," said Bob, as he regretfully watched his victim. "I dare say I'll never find another nose like it."

Lorelei's cab got under way at last, but barely in time, for a crowd was assembling. Not until she was safely inside her little apartment, with the chain on the door, did she surrender; then she burst into a trembling, choking fit of laughter. But her estimate of Wharton had risen, and for the first time he seemed not entirely bad.

BRITISH FLYERS BOMB GERMANY; HEAVY LOSS

Damage Caused at Kaiserlautern and Zweibrücken in Bavaria.

HOSTILE PLANES DRIVEN OFF

Tons of Explosives Hurlled at Munitions Plants, Railway Stations, Air dromes and Ammunition Dumps—
Raids Last 24 Hours.

London, March 18.—Great bombing raids against Germany have been carried out by British airplanes. The official announcement of the raids says:
"On Sunday we again raided Germany, attacking the barracks and railway station at Kaiserlautern (Bavaria). Direct hits were observed on the station and a large fire broke out."
"Our formation was attacked by a large number of hostile machines, which were driven off. All of our machines returned."

Raids Last 24 Hours.
"On Saturday 13 tons of bombs were dropped on the enemy's billets, which have been bombed continuously for the last 24 hours, and two hostile airdromes and three large ammunition dumps. At one airdrome a hangar completely burst; a Gotha machine in the act of rising was seen to crash."

"Sixteen hostile machines were brought down and seven were disabled.
Six of our machines are missing."
Zweibrücken Bombed.
A British air squadron bombed Zweirbrücken (Bavaria), says the British official report on aviation which was issued Saturday night.

In the air fighting 12 hostile machines were brought down and seven others were driven down out of control.

Fourteen heavy projectiles and ten lighter bombs were dropped on barracks, munition factories and the railway station at Zweibrücken. Explosions were seen all around the railway station. All the British machines returned safely.

A great deal of air fighting took place east of the lines along the front.
More than twelve tons of bombs were dropped on hostile rest billets, ammunition depots and airdromes. A successful raid was carried out on important railway sidings at Hirsau.

Raids Cause Panics in Towns.
Geneva, March 18.—Reports from Germany say panics have been caused by British aerial attacks. At Coblenz there were several fires and an ammunition factory was blown up. The Fribourg railway station was badly damaged.

Swiss travelers report that in the principal Rhine cities many houses and apartments are vacant, numbers of persons moving to central Germany and Switzerland.

Foe Reports 23 Allied Raids.
Amsterdam, March 18.—A Berlin dispatch says that in February entente aviators made 23 attacks on German towns. Treves was raided three times and Saarbrücken, Mannheim and Pirmasens each once. Twelve persons were killed and thirty-six injured.

10,000 DENOUNCE FOE'S ACT
Kentuckians Protest Against Poisoning of 500 Horses.

Covington, Ky., March 18.—A crowd estimated at 10,000, which included men, women and children, participated here in a remarkable demonstration of patriotic protest against alleged pro-German propaganda in Covington, as exemplified by the poisoning of 500 out of 726 government artillery horses shipped from Camp Grant, Ill., for an Atlantic seaport.
Ten thousand others were unable to get near the field outside the stockade of the Covington stock yards, wherein the dead animals lay. Further demonstrations are expected. A man, who gave a German name, interrupted the mass meeting. He was severely beaten and it is believed that only prompt action by the police prevented a lynching. The meeting decided to memorialize congress.

HUNS TAKE SWEDISH SHIPS
Number of Trawlers and Large Steamer Taken to Germany.

London, March 18.—A number of large Swedish trawlers and one of the largest Gothenburg steamers have been captured by German submarines off the Skaw, the northern extremity of Jutland, Denmark, and forced to go to Germany, according to a report printed by the Gothenburg Shipping Gazette and forwarded from Copenhagen by the Exchange Telegraph company.

$1,000,000 FIRE IN PENN.
Incendiary Blamed for Big Blaze at Johnstown.

Johnstown, Pa., March 18.—Fire of reported incendiary origin destroyed the Lincoln, Supper, Rose and the new Kline buildings here, causing a loss of about $1,000,000. At one time the entire business center of the city was threatened. Three alarms for minor blazes were turned in during the larger fire.

Healo, the wonderful foot powder, is sold by Marshall Field & Co., and all the large stores throughout the country, as well as all the leading druggists.

TREATMENT OF WOUNDS.

(From the Red Cross Magazine.)
If the wound is touched by the hand billions of pus germs will be carried into it. If washed with water even more germs will be carried into the wound and not only that but the deep parts of the wound which previously no germs had reached will have billions of germs carried into them. Therefore do not handle or wash a wound. Even if antiseptic solution is used it will carry pus from the skin and deeper than they have been before and no antiseptic such as bichloride of mercury can be used strong enough to kill those germs, as it will also destroy the cells of the body and so make them less able to fight the germs. Peroxide is especially dangerous in deep wounds as it carries the pus germs everywhere and is not strong enough to destroy them.
Placing a clean dressing, by which is meant a dressing that has been sterilized surgically (such as the Red Cross dressing) on the wound will introduce no more germs and will not injure the delicate tissues of the body which are exposed to the wound.
Moreover, the flow of blood and blood serum (the liquid part of the blood) will be in the direction of the descending, so that the germs will be constantly going out. This, therefore is the way to take care of a wound.

WAR DON'TS FOR WOMEN

Don't underestimate your ability to help. The day has long passed when women were expected to sit in idleness and wait for wars to end. Women are invaluable not only at the front as nurses, ambulance drivers, clerks and canteen managers, but as valuable at home. Knitting and bandage making are important and there are hundreds of activities of direct service, not to mention the numberless industries in which women are replacing men at the front.
Don't stop hunting until you find your job.
Don't look for a niche or pedestal but find a job and work it for all it's worth.

and that the thousands of recruits who had entered the service since the country entered the war were a credit to the nation.

BER OF COMMERCE

Members of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce met this afternoon to consider the question of aid to the local unit of the Illinois Volunteer Training Corps, and the Dixon men were strongly in favor of taking steps to aid the formation of the training corps.

There will be a special meeting of the training corps, Thursday evening, at Armory Hall, in conjunction with the regular drill of the unit, at which time plans are being made to increase the membership of the unit. The Chamber of Commerce has pledged its support to the movement.

Every man between the ages of 18 and 40 who is interested in home defense is urged to be present at the meeting Thursday night.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Aurora, March 18.—As a Kansas City bound passenger train on the Burlington was pulling out of Aurora last night at 10:30 o'clock the engineer discovered in the glare of his headlight a great steel chain hooked across the tracks which at this point are on an elevation of thirty feet. He brought the train to a stop before it bumped the obstruction.

Railroad officials think that enemy plotter stretched the chain in the hope of getting Camp Grant furlough specials which go through here Sunday nights. These soldier trains are made up in Chicago.

FRENCH IN HARD FIGHT

Attack on Wide Front West of Avoncourt.

Offensive Preceded by Artillery Preparation Lasting Ten Hours—British Repulse Foe.

Paris, March 18.—The war office reports a series of strong German attacks in the direction of Samogneux, north of the Bois des Caurieres, and in the Bezonvaux region.

Large enemy detachments succeeded in penetrating the French line at various points, but under the violence of the French fire suffered heavy losses and were unable to hold the ground where they gained a footing.

Latest information shows that the French troops entered the enemy trenches at Malancourt on a front of 1,400 meters (about five-sixths of a mile) to a depth of 800 meters (about half a mile).

Berlin, March 18.—The French attacked on a wide sector of the Verdun front, the war office announced. The attack is said to have been beaten off.

The statement says that after preparation for ten hours the French pressed forward on a wide front west of Avoncourt (Verdun front, west of the Meuse), but were defeated, partly by artillery fire and partly in hand-to-hand fighting.

There was a sharp artillery duel on the east bank of the Meuse. Hessian and Waldeck storming troops near Samogneux and Saxons near Bezonvaux (both points on the Verdun front east of the Meuse) penetrated enemy positions deeply. They brought back 200 French prisoners, including the staff of one battalion.

Seventeen allied airplanes and two balloons were shot down on Saturday, according to the report.

London, March 18.—"We carried out successful raids during the night in the neighborhood of Epeky and near Gavrelle," said the official communication. "A raid attempted by the enemy north of Lens was repulsed. A few prisoners were taken by us in the course of the encounters."
